TORIES FAIL TO DEFEND BRITAIN!

EVEN THE TORY-controlled Defence Committee attacked the Government for slashing Britain's defence forces without "developing a coherent strategy . ." or giving any indication of "when defence cuts are expected to end".

Far from analysing what defence forces Britain need and then providing them, the Conservative government has taken the attitude of 'how little can we spend and get away with it' - exactly the same attitude they took between the two world wars with such devastating consequences.

In an uncertain world where trouble springs from the least expected source, the Tories are again playing games with Britain's security.

IAN ANDERSON REPORTING

• BRITAIN DEFENCELESS: No coherent strategy with the cuts.

It is true that at the moment Western Europe is extremely peaceful but predicting future events and turns has always been fraught with danger. People were saying the same in 1929 - ten years later Europe was plunged into war and Britain nearly succumbed to foreign aggression. The very real uncertainty in the Soviet Union at present only emphasises these dangers.

With disappearing defence forces what exactly would Britain do if Middle Eastern Islamic states started to expand north-west in a new Holy War? Could we react again if Argentina invaded the Falklands? Suppose the families of British people in Australia were threatened by a Chinese invasion? Fanciful? Well so was the idea of a European war in 1929.

The Defence Committee has also pointed out that Britain's armed forces were stretched to the limit in the recent Gulf War. The overall operation "effectively destroyed the capability of British forces in Germany leaving spares and ammunition seriously depleted".

Are we so sure that there will be no change in Russia over the next ten years that might threaten our security?

Yet all this was before the savage defence cuts announced by the Government. The reduction from 55 to 36 infantry battalions, and from 19 to 11 armoured regiments means that Britain has a drastically reduced her army and has no overall strategic plan for defence.

What is really worrying is that the Conservative Government has now openly decided that defending the British people is just too expensive - no wonder they want to hand over responsibility to a European bureaucracy and a European Defence Force.

If we are looking for ways of saving money then there is our overseas aid donations, our huge contributions to Europe, our over-swollen British civil service - but our defence forces have already been cut back too far.

The National Front says our defence forces must be maintained at whatever level is needed to guarantee the defence of Britain and the British people from any threat - real or potential.

DIARY OF A NO-GO AREA

CHAPELTOWN, LEEDS, W.YORKS.

The afternoon of Sunday 28th July.

• BREAKDOWN OF SOCIETY: Tories have lost their way with Law and Order.

★ 2,00pm. A 'Family Day' carnival takes place.

★ 3.00pm. Gangs of youths, attracted to the carnival after heavy lunchtime drinking. Many of them are listening to ghetto-blasters giving live coverage of West Indies -v- England Test Match.

★ 7.00pm. Occasional reports of handbag snatching.

★ 12.00pm. Police investigate a mugging, they are stoned by local youths and the police withdraw.

★ 1.00am. Stolen cars are being used for high speed joy-riding. Police investigate; they are attacked by missiles. Police withdraw again.

★ 2.00am. A full police van is lured into the Chapeltown Road by false reports of fighting. 50 youths attack the van with bricks and stones. The badly damaged van withdraws.

★ 2.27am. Latvian Social Club is attacked by a mob who break in and take £20,000 of cigarettes and drink. The police are called. The phone call is logged in at the police station just 800yds away. THE POLICE DECIDE NOT TO INTERVENE.

★ 2.45am. Andras Bocskei, the Latvian Club steward has been woken by the alarm company and calls at the police station after having seen his club being wrecked. A police officer says he knows the club is being wrecked but the police had decided not to intervene.

★ 3.45am. Mr Bocskei again visited police station. He sees about 30 police in full riot gear, many already in the vans ready to go. An officer comes out of the police station and tells them to go and get another cup of coffee. They are waiting for a police helicopter and it might take another hour.

★ 4.30am. Mr Bocskei tells police that his club has been wrecked but the mob has dispersed. The police drive into the area.

In fact Chapeltown is a well known no-go area. Taxis refuse to enter the area, last November a constable was stabbed and beaten, drugs are easily available on the streets and prostitutes ply their trade while children play nearby.

The most inane comment of the month goes to Superintendent Ray Evans, commander of the Chapeltown sub-district: "We police this area 365 days a year and confrontation is extremely rare . . . . you police by consent of the majority". Confrontation is extremely rare because the law is not being applied. The police are just plain petrified of causing disturbances. Just imagine what it must be like to be one of the elderly people who still live in such an area.

The National Front's solution is to restore law and order, smash the drug dealing rackets, arrest the looters and jail the muggers.

Why Our O.A.Ps. are Living in Fear!

THE ONE single issue which most concerns older people in Britain is the fear of crime. Whether it is violation of their home by a burglar or being physically attacked by a mugger, it is a fear that has become steadily more prevalent. Crimes have risen by over 50% in the last ten years and old people are more at risk than ever before.

The Tory party is loud on words and promises but almost silent on results. In their 1979 election manifesto they said:- "Respect for the rule of law is the basis of a free and civilised life. We will restore it".

Chosen To Deliver Asian Vote

by Jon Martin

IT HAS been announced by the Brentford and Isleworth Conservative Association that they have selected Nirj Joseph Deva as their Prospective Parliamentary Candidate. He was selected from over 200 hopefuls to succeed Sir Barney Hayhoe MP who is retiring at the next election.

Deva is a Sri Lankan and is the first Asian to be selected as a PPC by the Tories. It is reported that he is a strong supporter of the idea of 'One Nation', racial integration and the concept of British Asians.

What Nirj Deva believes in is of course of little relevance. He has been picked for Brentford and Isleworth for one reason, and one reason only ... to deliver the immigrant vote!

INVENTED BY BRITONS

TWO GREAT British achievements have been unveiled during August which shows that despite a lack of investment and training British scientist can still take the lead in the world of Science.

A rocket engine which may one day propel astronauts to the stars is in its final testing stage at the Culham Laboratory in Oxfordshire. The UK-10, a British-designed ion engine will have its first major test aboard the European Space Agency Communications Satellite, Artemis, due for launch in 1995. It will be used to ensure the satellite does not wander in its orbit.

Wafer-thin films of plastic have been developed by British researchers to help defend drugs and high priced pharmaceuticals against counterfeiters and blackmailers.

The layers over the bottle's mouth, will withstand the daily knocks and bang of packaging and shipping but if broken by a syringe or tampered with in a sinister way, the film will delaminate spontaneously or break apart from their bindings.

• SAFETY: Beating the blackmailer

This changes the way light refracts and reflects through the layers, instantaneously revealing a permanent warning printed within the layers.

So whether it's large or small, designed to reach the depths of space or to protect a new born baby - British scientists are once again proving that they lead the world.

THE REAL FACE OF LABOUR!

> "You will undertake outreach work with men who have sex with men in public places, including black and disabled men"

YOU ONLY have to take a look at advertisements placed in the Manchester Evening News by Manchester's Labour-run Council to confirm that the Labour Party's so-called New Image is just a cosmetic change.

The real face of Labour glares out at you from the pages of this provincial paper in the form of these 'your money down the drain' adverts grovelling for minority votes.

The latest batch of advertisements are really sick. Manchester's Labour Council will pay a queer, preferably who is black and disabled, £17,000 a year to work just three hours a day hanging around men's loos in the city waiting to tell other queers committing acts of gross indecency inside the danger of contracting AIDS.

BRENT FALLS TO THE TORIES BUT THE LOONY TUNES REMAIN

by Steve Brady

THE NORTH London Borough of Brent, formerly a byword for Labour's Loony Left has fallen under Tory control. Cause for rejoicing in the columns of The Telegraph, or even for Brent's beleaguered native British minority? Well, not quite.

For the Tory takeover happened because two enormous Black women, Labour councillors, Poline Nyaga and Nkechi Amalu had a row with their Labour comrades.

Affronted, and like clippers under full sail these two huge turbaned and Afro-robed vessels rolled across the floor to vote with the Tories who warmly welcomed the massive matriarchs even though Amalu had recently described Ugandan mass murderer Idi Amin as 'a remarkable patriot'.

The Tory ranks were further swelled by the defection of Councillor Harshad Barot. Forgotten were Tory denunciations of Barot, when he voted with Labour, for his conviction for attempting to defraud the council of a Home Improvement Loan. Now the Tories propose motions excusing Barot for failing to declare an interest before voting in a council committee because "my hearing aid wasn't working". After all they need his vote to govern.

As govern Brent they do. Even if they have to reward Cllr. Amalu for her vote by agreeing to keep subsidising her 'African Centre' to the tune of £100,000 a year.

The Red Flag no longer flies over Brent Town Hall even if the Red Bin still stands in front of it, for the locals to drop their spare blades in under the Brent Knives Amnesty.

Yes the lunacy still goes on. But now it's Tory lunatics that are controlling the council's £400 million a year turnover.

GREAT YARMOUTH BACK IN ACTION!

• TOM HOLMES:

GREAT YARMOUTH National Front have had a pretty grim year so far. (See last month's FLAG). Many branches would have gone under losing three members in such tragic circumstances but not Great Yarmouth.

Organiser Tom Holmes, instead of sitting around moping threw himself into a campaign that has given the branch a boost and put the NF in the forefront of local politics.

Tom Holmes has been tackling the problem of ritually slaughtered meat finding its way into Yarmouth's supermarkets for gentile consumption.

In a letter to local supermarkets Tom pointed out.

"As you may well know the European Parliament are considering legislation, which if adopted could finally eradicate the barbarous practice of Ritual Slaughter of animals currently practised by Moslem and Orthodox Jewish religious bodies.

"The proposal is that all meat produced by the Halal and Shechita methods would have to be labelled as such. This would give the consumer the choice of supporting or boycotting the product.

"At present up to 90% of ritually slaughtered meat is sold for consumption by Gentiles. These are the parts of the animal which are considered 'unclean'. The general public is unaware that they are subsidising the dietary preferences of minority religious groups.

"Would you please let me know whether this is the case with your company? If indeed Ritually Slaughtered meat is sold to unsuspecting customers in your establishment have you plans to alter this in the near future?

"The people of Britain have a right to know if the meat they consume is humanely killed."

Tom's letter has produced some very encouring replies . .

"It is our policy not to sell ritually slaughtered meat in any of our 684 stores" - Gateway Foodmarkets.

"It is our policy not to buy or stock ritually slaughtered meat from anywhere in the world, and we are very happy to reassure you on this point". - Sainsburys

"Having investigated the matter further I would like to assure you that our specification is quite clear on this issue and that all our meat is slaughtered in the traditional and not ritual way and we can state this quite categorically". - Tesco.

COVENTRY NF TAKE ON THE RACE BOARD

by Dennis Sale

A FAMILY in Coventry have been refused help by the Race Relations Council because they are White!

Coventry and Warwickshire NF were the only party in Coventry with the nerve to spearhead a campaign calling for the Race Council's £80,000 a year grant to be recalled. The campaign has been a great success with National and Local Press now actually calling for the White family to be helped.

The NF has called for a public statement confirming that the Council will act for Whites and has demanded an investigation into the dozens of complaints concerning Black harassment which have not been acted upon.

The Race Council has set up six new centres in Coventry and has also complained that Coventry Police do not act on racial harassment complaints claiming they are biased against blacks.

What a joke. The only bias in Coventry is the Race Council's refusal to represent White families - and for that we have living proof.

MAKING THE NEWS

IN RECENT weeks the National Front in the North-West have been receiving several good reports in their local newspapers, on television and the radio.

The Manchester Evening News ran two articles on the rally held in the city and Radio Picadilly broadcast a short interview with NF chairman Ian Anderson.

The TV news programme Granada Reports told viewers that despite the town hall ban, the National Front held a successful meeting somewhere in the town centre.

Numerous mentions with regard to the National Front have appeared in local newspapers throughout Lancashire after extensive leafletting sessions in Preston, Blackburn and Darwen.

NF READY & WAITING IN TORBAY!

BOB JONES, the National Front's candidate for Torbay, is the most fortunate of all NF candidates in the fact that he has probably the best NF election agent in the business in Mark Cotterill.

With letters published regularly in the press, the election envelopes bought and stamped-up ready, the election address written, constituency leafletting under way and fund-raising activities to the fore, Mark has his campaign well under control, putting Torbay streets ahead of other constitencies where the NF is putting up a candidate.

The FLAG is pleased to congratulate Mark Cotterill and Bob Jones on their efforts. Some of his colleagues might regard Mark as a bit of an eccentric and a maverick . . . but when it comes to election preparation he leaves them all standing!!

Town Hall Meeting For London North

LONDON NORTH National Front are to make an application to hire Shoreditch Town Hall for a private meeting.

The move comes after the booking of the Town Hall by the anarchist group Class War for its September Conference. Hackney Council has allowed the booking to go ahead.

A council spokesman said "It's a democratic country and we cannot discriminate against any group because we oppose their views. People have a democratic right to express their views as long as they stay within the law".

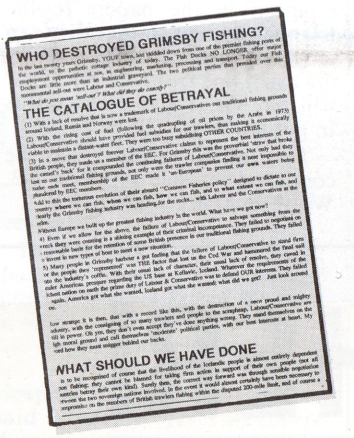
The spokesman was obviously ignorant of Class War propaganda which is full of violence.

The NF will be taking up its democratic right to express its views by making a booking. The National Front, unlike Class War, takes part in the democratic process by standing in elections.

GRIMSBY NF

GRIMSBY NATIONAL Front have produced a new leaflet focusing on the decline of the local fishing industry. The very professionally written and produced leaflet should go down well in the town where many people are very bitter that successive Governments allowed their livelihoods to be destroyed.

Grimsby NF are make slow but steady progress. Next month will see the local branch holding another day of action in the town centre.



WHO DESTROYED GRIMSBY FISHING?

In the last twenty years Grimsby, YOUR town, has skidded down from one of the premier fishing ports of the world, to the pathetic cottage industry of today. The Fish Docks NO LONGER offer major employment opportunities at sea, in engineering, marketing, processing and transport. Today our Fish Docks are little more than an industrial graveyard. The two political parties that presided over this monumental sell-out were Labour and Conservative.

''What do you mean 'sell-out'? What did they do exactly?''

THE CATALOGUE OF BETRAYAL

(1) With a lack of resolve that is now a trademark of Labour/Conservatives our traditional fishing grounds around Iceland, Russia and Norway were lost.

(2) With the rising cost of fuel (following the quadrupling of oil prices by the Arabs in 1973) Labour/Conservative should have provided fuel subsidies for our trawlers, thus making it economically viable to maintain a distant-water fleet. They were too busy subsidising OTHER COUNTRIES.

(3) In a move that destroyed forever Labour/Conservative claims to represent the best interests of the British people, they made us a member of the EEC. For Grimsby this was the proverbial 'straw that broke the camel's back' for it compounded the continuing failures of Labour/Conservative. Not only had they lost us our traditional fishing grounds, not only were the trawler companies finding it near impossible to make ends meet, membership of the EEC made it 'un-European' to prevent our own waters being plundered by EEC members.

Add to this the torturous evolution of their absurd ''Common Fisheries policy'' designed to dictate to our ountry where we can fish, when we can fish, how we can fish, and to what extent we can fish, and learly the Grimsby fishing industry was heading for the rocks... with Labour and the Conservatives at the elm.

Vithout Europe we built up the greatest fishing industry in the world. What have we got now?

4) Even if we allow for the above, the failure of Labour/Conservative to salvage something from the vreck they were creating is a shining example of their criminal incompetance. They failed to negotiate on reasonable basis for the retention of some British presence in our traditional fishing grounds. They failed o invest in new types of boat to meet a new situation.

5) Many people in Grimsby harbour a gut feeling that the failure of Labour/Conservative to stand firm or the people they 'represented' was THE factor that lost us the Cod War and hammered the final nail nto the industry's coffin. With their usual lack of character, their usual lack of resolve, they caved in nder American pressure regarding the US base at Keflavic, Iceland. Whatever the requirements of the ichest nation on earth the prime duty of Labour & Conservative was to defend OUR interests. They failed again. America got what she wanted, Iceland got what she wanted; what did we get? Just look around ou.

low strange it is then, that with a record like this, with the destruction of a once proud and mighty adustry, with the consigning of so many trawlers and people to the scrapheap, Labour/Conservative are till in power. Oh yes, they don't even accept they've done anything wrong. They stand themselves on the igh moral ground and call themselves 'moderate' political parties, with our best interests at heart. My ord how they must snigger behind our backs.

NHAT SHOULD WE HAVE DONE

is to be recognised of course that the livelihood of the Icelandic people is almost entirely dependent on fishing; they cannot be blamed for taking firm action in support of their own people (not all untries betray their own kind). Surely then, the correct way forward was through sensible negotiation etween the two sovereign nations involved. In the event it would almost certainly have been necessary to ompromise on the numbers of British trawlers fishing within the disputed 200-mile limit, and of course a

Recruitment Going Well in West London

WEST LONDON National Front are the jewel in the NF crown at the moment taking over that mantle from NF branches in the North-West.

From having just a couple of members last year West London has steadly grown, working initially with Slough and London North but now striding out on their own and recruiting new members hand-over-fist.

The key to their success can be put down to involvement in local issues, regular leafletting and total commitment from the committee. But above all it comes from the branch promoting a good image in the area. Much of the recruitment is done door to door and the British public in West London appear very happy with their first contact with the National Front.

URGENT! - Minibus Repair Appeal

AS YOU may know 'The FLAG' is distributed around the country to National Front branches each month by means of a Literature Run. This run covers approximately 1,000 miles, drops papers at 15 locations (some covering two or three branches) and is carried out over a weekend every month in the NF minibus.

Although in excellent condition the minibus has had to undergo a major service and some parts have had to be replaced (including part of the rather important braking system). The total bill for these repairs has come to £485.00.

This expenditure is over and above our normal level and is providing a few difficulties especially in the middle of the quiet summer period. We urgently need money to pay for this repair. If you can help by sending a donation we would be extremely grateful.

SEND YOUR DONATION TO: The National Front, P.O.Box 230, Worthing, Sussex BN14 8DB. Cheques made payable to the NATIONAL FRONT.

Positive Action

IN THE very near future West Yorkshire will have its first "Positive Action" training project to help Asian and Black people become top managers.

Calderdale Council has secured almost £70,000 from the Calderdale and Kirklees T.E.C. to prepare immigrants to reach senior management positions.

A Careers Service report says ethic minorities leaving school in the district are three times more likely to be without a job than the indigenous white population. The scheme is aimed at about nine thousand locals mostly of Pakistani origin.

A spokesman added this does not mean positive discrimination or reserving jobs for black people.

Pull the other one!

Culture Trip!

ONCE MORE looting and mugging reared its ugly head in Chapeltown, Leeds. No response from the police left between 70-80 black youths free to rampage through this multi-racial district for two hours untouched.

Following riots in 1981 and 1987 the government ploughed millions of pounds into the area to create jobs for these people but yet again rioting was the only outcome.

The relevance of all this came three days later when the city council's licensing committee gave unanimous backing for the West Indian Carnival to take place in Chapeltown at the end of August.

Obviously no heed was taken to last years events when three people were murdered during the day long "culture trip".

Discrimination

AN ARGUMENT between Mount Charlotte Hotels based in Yorkshire and the public service Union N.A.L.G.O. has been settled.

The row started when the hotel chain cancelled a booking for the N.A.L.G.O. Lesbian and Gay conference last Autumn.

The hotel chain have now lifted the banning of any such homosexual meetings because N.A.L.G.O. threatened a boycott of their hotels and were to encourage other unions to do the same.

Mount Charlotte Hotels then wrote to the Union saying it had a policy of no discrimination against any member of society.

If the National Front have difficulty in booking a room for future meetings there is at least one organisation who may be willing to help.

Conspicuous

LOYAL TYKES will seek a return to the Ridings, 17 years after traditional county boundaries were abolished, according to a survey taken at the Great Yorkshire show.

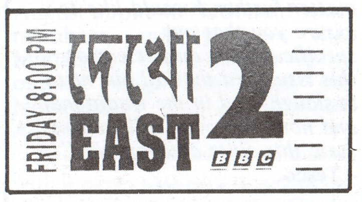
A proud 84% of the 300 questioned said not even £50,000 would persuade them to move to London. The survey also showed more than 50% of the people didn't want the county cricket team to take on players born outside Yorkshire.

It is only prudent to note that ethnic minorities at the Great Yorkshire show were only conspicuous by their absence.

Insult!

FOR TWO weeks last month the first Asian postmark appeared in the UK. It was used on all first class mail posted in towns and cities with sizable Asian communities.

The postmark publicised the BBC 2 Asian current affairs programme East and was written in English and either Urdu, Punjabi or Gujerati.



Apart from a gross misuse of the TV license fee, the use of a postmark promoting an alien tongue stamped all across the picture of our monarch could be upsetting to many British people.

The Indians would never allow a 'Watch Panorama on Monday night' stamp to obliterate the face of Rajiv Ghandi, so why should we?

ISLAMIC COUNCIL BACKS THE FRONT

● OPPOSED: The Koran forbids a Muslim to impose his faith on others

THE NATIONAL Front has received support for its campaign against the brainwashing of British children with Asian culture from an unexpected quarter.

The Islamic Council for the Defence of Europe wrote to The FLAG supporting an article in a recent issue of the paper condemning the fact that British schoolchildren in Nelson, Lancashire had their hands dyed orange as part of an Asian cult rite.

The Islamic Council wrote . . .

"We read with interest your last issue of 'The FLAG' and were particularly attracted by your article "Children suffer Muslim abuse at primary school."

"The Koran is very strict: it is forbidden for a Muslim to impose his faith on anybody. But what can we do when non-Muslims, such as the incriminated school teacher, try to impose Islam on non-Muslim pupils?

"We oppose such practice and any form of 'multi-culture' as much as you do, as it is made clear in our enclosed Manifesto."

It would be useful if our readers send any examples of multi-racial brainwashing reported in the papers to the Islamic Council so that they can lodge a complaint to accompany the usual one from the NF. That will put the sick multi-racialists in a quandary.

The Islamic Council can be contacted through P.O.Box 293, Wolverhampton, WV1 4XL.

BIG BROTHER!

Britons Beware - Labour is Watching You!

LABOUR COUNCILS are using hidden cameras and microphones to sniff out "racism", it emerged recently. Suspected "Thought Criminals" are being 'monitored' in a way reminiscent of George Orwell's totalitarian nightmare 1984.

In one case, Hammersmith and Fulham Council paid £995 of poll-taxpayers' money to install cameras and sound "bugs" in the hall, staircase and landing of a British lady who was having a dispute with her Black landlord.

The Black had of course accused his White tenant of "racism" for presuming to argue with him over his alleged failure to perform repairs on the property. Rather than pay for the repairs he simply denounced his tenant to the Secret Police - the Labour Council. He then helped them install the TV cameras and bugs while his tenant was out. The tenant of course was not told. Their plan was to prosecute the Englishwoman for "racial harassment" - arguing with an Immigrant.

Challenged about the bugging, Hammersmith and Fulham Council were unrepentant. A spokesman said "It's entirely within our powers as the prosecuting authority to take this action. This case was dragging on and we needed to finish it." In the event their tapes showed no evidence of political deviationism on the part of the uppity native and so they were frustrated.

Nonetheless, went on the Council spokesman "We're not ashamed of our action. It's something which is becoming more common in everyday society. Using surveillance equipment is in no way unique. We use it as do other local authorities". He added that the Labour Council investigated 26 cases of "racial harassment" every month and had resorted to electronic surveillance because otherwise "it is extemely difficult to collect evidence for prosecutions".

Hammersmith and Fulham is indeed not the only council to resort to KGB tactics against its indigenous British community. Six months ago Birmingham City Council bought a surveillance camera and some microphone "bugs" to hunt "racists". It admits using them twice so far. Although again without obtaining evidence to support a prosecution. Probably because much "racial harassment" is a figment of Immigrant imagination. A Birmingham Council spokesman said spying on their citizens was "not Big Brother. We're simply responding to specific cases where people have come to us for help".

● LABOUR COUNCILS: Town Halls have hidden cameras and microphones

Liberty, formerly the National Counil for Civil Liberties, was set up to defend the public against exactly this sort of KBG/Gestapo style repression. And indeed it has expressed "concern". But Liberty is in a fix. The victims of secret police repression are alleged "racists" And in 1984, after its genuine libertarian leaders had been found defending the civil rights of National Front members, a coalition of Marxists and Immigrants at its AGM forced through a resolution that, in effect, "racists" had no rights and so Liberty would not defend them.

The result was that repressive tactics were used by the Establishment against the NF, established as an unchallenged precedent, then applied to other groups like striking miners when it was too late for Liberty to act. The same will happen again. Electronic surveillance may start on "racists". But it will not finish with them. By defending our rights, civil libertarians are in the long run defending their own too. It's time they realised that. Before it's too late.

FOCUS NORTH WEST

Where Are The Anti-Racists

AT THE beginning of August a 20 year-old Asian woman, Safir Sharif, was bundled into a car at Glodwick, Oldham.

The following day she was reunited with her husband Anju. She was questioned by police about her kidnapping, but then changed her mind and claimed that she had gone willingly with members of her family to talk about her marriage.

So what was it all about? What had caused the police to spend a large number of hours on what was treated as a kidnap? It was thought that she might be smuggled out of the country, so airports were warned and a nationwide alert was put out, why?

The reason was that she was a Bangladeshi and her husband was a Pakistani and both families objected to the marriage. Race and culture were the clear reasons for the kidnap but there was not a whisper of apportioning blame for 'racist behaviour' by local anti-racist groups.

The reason for their inaction is not too difficult to find if one applies the logic these groups adopt. It would undoubtedly be . . . "Neither of the parties were white so neither can be guilty".

Buying Votes

SAVERA PRODUCTIONS are an Asian Amateur Dramatic Group and has received a £5,000 grant from the Community and Leisure Services Committee of Blackburn Council.

The group produces plays, mainly in Urdu, and promotes productions which tackle cultural issues. Savera Productions claim to "promote cultural awareness and perpetuate appreciation of heritage".

It can be guaranteed that their promotions will have the usual dose of disrespect for British culture and heritage, and also the promotion of alien cultures will eventually lead to the destruction of our own.

Setting Out His Stall

GREG POPE, Hyndburn's prospective parliamentary Labour candidate, has adopted in his election campaign the most basic requirement for being an MP.

Regular readers of The FLAG will know that an MP's primary task in areas with a large immigrant population is to grovel for their vote, and Mr Pope has certainly set his stall out to woo their votes.

Pope has written to the shadow Foreign Affairs spokesman Gerald Kaufman saying that he wants to see an Independent Kashmir rather than the present position of the area being divided between India and Pakistan. It goes without saying, of course, that the vast majority of Asians living in Hyndburn are Kashmiri.

It is interesting that Pope should want an independent Kashmir for his Kashmiri constituents and yet is quite happy to shackle his British constituents to an alien Government in Brussels.

Unfortunately promoting an independent Kashmir is bound to upset Indians and Pakistanis in other Labour marginal constituencies so Kaufman will have to be careful with his reply.

In typical Labour Party fashion it is unlikely that any firm commitment will be given. After all Kinnock & Co have got to be careful that they don't jeopardise the direction that some future ethnic grovelling campaign might take.

Tories Fund IRA Killer

HARRY SHANAGHAN was an active IRA terrorist. Part of his leisure time was spent as an aide to Charlie McHugh, a councillor in Strabane, Co. Tyrone, for the Provoes' "political wing", Sinn Fein. The rest was spent murdering British people in the Castlederg area of West Tyrone.

He spent several years as a cog in the Provo murder machine. But they didn't pay his wages. We did.

For while Shanaghan spent his evenings propagandising for the IRA and his nights killing for them, he spent his days working for the British Government's Department of the Environment. We, the British taxpayer, paid this terrorist's wages. Just as we support virtually the whole Provisional IRA through social security and welfare benefits.

They may reject our country. But they never reject our money. The IRA can kill and maim, secure in the knowledge that they and their families will be well looked after by the British taxpayer.

This is ludicrous. We free the IRA from material worries so they can kill our people. Known Republicans should not receive a penny in pay or benefits from the British people. They reject "the Brits", so they can do without Brit money.

At least we don't pay for Harry Shanaghan any more. On August 12th, whilst driving one of our DoE vans through the village of Killen, Co. Tyrone, this stalwart of West Tyrone IRA met with a number of bullets coming in the other direction . . .

A PRISONER THE MEDIA FORGOT!

by Ted Budden

I AM NOT to be numbered among those who engage in an orgy of breast beating whenever a British citizen is imprisoned for crimes committed abroad. Moreover I am incensed when our Government pleads for leniency in cases where Britons are convicted in foreign countries for odious crimes such as drug dealings. If they travel abroad to dishonour this country I believe they deserve all they get.

Now some five years ago, Mr Ian Richter, an employee of a British company engaged in renewing Baghdad's water system, was convicted by an Iraqi court for giving a million pound bribe to the Mayor of Baghdad who was later executed for accepting it.

Now we had no quarrel with Iraq at that time and, indeed, I am still waiting for someone to tell me what harm Iraq had ever done to Britain that justified our paticipation in the murderous onslaught on that country.

So Iraq had no reason for singling out a Briton for a judicial frame-up but it may well be that, as alleged, Mr Richter was entirely innocent of the charge.

If so, the Foreign Office is right to be demanding his release, even to the extent of blackmailing Iraq by seizing Iraqi assets in Britain and threatening to prevent that country earning its living abroad.

Strong stuff. It is indeed conforting to know that our Government so staunchly defends its citizens abroad. Alas, there is a slight discrepancy here.

For you may never have heard of Mr Neville Norton. Until just recently I certainly hadn't for his ordeal only came to light when he was allowed to return to Britain after being forcibly detained in Saudi Arabia for 16 years, five of them in prison.

Now you may recall that Saudi Arabia was one of those countries that we rushed to protect against the wicked Saddam Hussein's campaign of world conquest. It is true that Saudi Arabia is not a democracy, in fact it is governed by feudal despotism, but it is definitely among the good guys.

Now Mr Norton was not convicted for offering bribes - in Saudi Arabia one is more likely to be jailed for not offering bribes. No Mr Norton's crime was to be involved in a dispute with the Saudi royal family over a building contract.

Foreign workers are regarded by these lordly Arab potentates as being only slightly higher than slaves so I suppose that Mr Norton might consider himself lucky not to have been beheaded for lese-majestie.

If he had been, I wonder if we would have heard about it for the contrast between his case and the hullabaloo over Ian Richter is quite startling.

● SAUDI ARABIA: A feudal, despotic country fawned over by the Tories

These lordly Arab princes own lots of racehorses in Britain indeed without their lordly patronage British racing would be in dire straits. Rotten Saddam Hussein, however, doesn't own so much as a selling hurdler. Horsey folk, of course, are very influential as are the bankers and company bosses who make lots and lots of easy money dealing with Saudi Arabian princes, far more than they ever could with measly old Iraq.

Could this be, I wonder, the reason we've never heard of Nevill Norton before.

Muslims Demand 'Stop Those Hymns'

by Darren Copeland

ONWARD CHRISTAN Soldiers and All Things Bright and Beautiful have been banned from a hospital radio - because they upset Muslims and Hindus.

All hymns have been axed after dozens of non-Christians claimed they discriminate against their religions.

Now a group of patients have written to a local paper to complain.

They wrote "there is no more Amazing Grace, Old Rugged Cross or What A Friend We Have in Jesus". "We are all ill people and these hymns bring comfort to us". Vic Short, of Dulwich Hospital Radio, South London, said "people felt we were discriminating against Muslims, Buddhists and others by playing only Christian hymns."

Safeguarding Our Maritime Tradition

THERE WAS GREAT relief that no one died when the Greek-owned cruise liner, Oceanos sank to the bottom of the Indian Ocean off the South African coast on Sunday 4th August.

Yiannis Avranas, the captain, and many of his crew left the sinking ship by helicopter leaving the majority of passengers still on board. He told reporters later that he thought he could run the rescue operation better from the safety of shore. . . . Yes, I agree, it will provide great material for the comedians on the northern club circuit!

Because no one died in the sinking we can laugh at the captain's behaviour. Unfair or not, it's funny because it is exactly what you would expect from a Greek sea captain. Just as the heroics from the British entertainers, working their passage on the cruise, in saving passengers' lives would also be expected.

When the chips are down, especially at sea, the British are useful to have around. Passenger after passenger arriving on the safety of the shore after their rescue from the sinking liner confirmed this fact.

There has been a rapid decline in safety at sea because of a consistent lowering of safety standards and the use of flags of convenience. British ships manned by British crews have the best safety record in the world, but that means nothing in today's world of dividends and profit. Lord Sterling, Chairman of P&O Ferries said that flagging-out would continue in his company because it is in the best interests of his shareholders!

So lives are put at risk at sea just so Japanese businessmen and fat-cats in the City with shares in P&0 get their return.

Cunard, owners of the QE2 are now replacing their British crew with Portuguese and Filipino ratings, once again to produce a bigger profit for the shareholders.

The decline of Britain's merchant shipping has been well documented in the pages of this newspaper. It is a decline that would not be tolerated by a National Front Government.

A National Shipping Line would be our priority. British ships built by British workers in British shipyards. Manned by British crews and with the sole right to carry British goods and people to all corners of the world.

Such a policy would lead to a vast improvement in the safety of Britons at sea. It would mean a revitalised merchant fleet and a thriving shipbuilding industry, but above all it would return a sense of Naval pride to our demoralised mariners and safeguard the seafaring tradition that this country was built upon.

SOFT DRINK RIP-OFF!

STEVE BRADY takes a look at one monopoly that the Government chooses to ignore.

WHY ARE soft drinks so expensive, especially in pubs and clubs? Because, as the Government's Monopolies and Mergers Commission admitted on August 15th, the soft drinks market in Britain is controlled by two big companies.and the Government's so-called 'watchdog' has failed to take effective action to end the squeeze.

The MMC revealed that 65% of the £1.3 billion of soft drinks sold in Britain are made by two vast conglomerates. Coca-Cola and Schweppes Beverages, a foreign multinational, whose brands include Coke and Schweppes mixers, Lilt, Fanta and Sprite, in 1989 sold £571 million of drinks, 42.7% of the market.

Britvic, jointly owned by brewing giants Bass, Allied-Lyons and Whitbread and US multinational PepsiCo, sold £300 million worth of PepsiCola, Corona, Canada Dry, Tango, R.White's Lemonade, and Idris ginger beer, 22.4% of the market. The remaining third of the soft drinks market goes to sundry tiddlers, none with a market share over 6% and all too small to stand up to the Big Two.

The MMC concluded, after a 13 month inquiry, that the Big Two really ought not to tie pubs and clubs to their brands, barring them from buying anyone else's soft drinks even if they are better value.

The Big Two make 90% of the soft drinks sold across Britain's pub and club bars. The Government body admitted these tying agreements were anti-competitive and likely to result in higher prices and less choice. It recommended that something be done about them. Although Secretary of State for Trade and Industry, Peter Lilley, has said he will talk to the Big Two before deciding whether to act on or just ignore the MMC recommendations.

● NO COMPETITION: Coca-Cola have 42.7% of the Soft Drinks Market

But even if the Big Two's grip on pubs and clubs is loosened, that is only 20% of the soft drinks market. The MMC saw nothing wrong with them controlling two thirds of the other 80% of the market, the off-license trade and shop outlets.

No wonder the Stock Market sharks rubbed their hands with glee. After the Governments "watchdog" emitted this pathetic yelp shares in the Big Two's parent firm shot up. Cadbury Schweppes up 8p at 389p, Whitbread up 1p to 508p and Allied-Lyons up 1p to 590p.

The City slickers went on making a fortune out of the soft drinks squeeze. Whilst drinkers across Britain went on paying a fortune for soft drinks.

The National Front would break up monopolies like the soft drink ones and would eject foreign multinationals like CocaCola and PepsiCo from Britain altogether. We would encourage markets divided more-or-less evenly among lots of smaller suppliers, all competing to offer the consumer the best value for money. That way, in soft drinks and elsewhere, we would squash the squeezes and slake the British people's thirst for fair dealing and honest value.

The Roots of The British

Who are we, as a people? Where did the British come from? Are we a nation of immigrants as some multi-culturalists would argue?

All this and more is answered in STEVE BRADY's brilliant book.

Day of Action in Nottingham

by Ian Anderson

IT WAS a change from the usual rally which the National Front has organised to help relatively new units. On Saturday 10th August about 40 National Front members, mainly from the Midlands, but with a little outside help converged on Nottingham for a 'Day of Action'.

We started off about 11.00am with a paper sale by a dozen of us right in the heart of the City's main shopping district. The local Socialist Worker sellers were particularly shocked and horrified especially as The FLAG was out-selling their rag by at least 4 to 1. One of the Reds rushed off to the phone box to call up more 'comrades' while the NF members carried on selling papers and handing out leaflets.

After a while some even dirtier and scruffier comrades arrived to augment the Forces of Red Revolution until they heavily outnumbered us. They became quite brave, standing in front of us, haranguing all those who took leaflets and being generally obnoxious. However only a few minutes later more NF members arrived from Leeds and from other parts of the East Midlands, and suddenly the strident Stalinists became very quiet and huddled together.

Towards the end of the morning the Police turned up and very politely asked us how long we would be staying - and then told Lenin's layabouts to behave themselves, put away their loudhailer and pack up their placards. At 1.00pm we finished the papersale with a rousing chorus of Rule Britannia which silenced the Reds and drew applause from the public.

After a pleasant lunchtime drink in a pub which brewed traditional beers on the premises our group then drove out in a convoy to a large housing estate in the north of the City where the afternoon was spent leafletting. At the end day we had sold fifty papers, handed out 4,000 leaflets and signed up two new members on the spot. On Tuesday enquiries were received at Head Office from the leaflets put out.

As the day proved a great success the National Front are already planning more events of this type, although we shall continue to hold the more traditional rallies as well.

MAKING PROGRESS

THE SLOUGH Branch of the National Front has received a record number of inquiries in the past two months. They have come in from Slough, Windsor, Bracknell, Wokingham and Reading.

The Election Fund for Slough Constituency at the next General Election stands at £633.00.

The Ted Budden Column

Ted Budden was a founder member of the National Front. In his column he gives his view of the world.

His comments and observations do not necessarily reflect NF Policy.

Blood Kurdling

IT SEEMS like only yesterday that the news was dominated by "the plight of the Kurds". Come to think of it, it was only a week or two ago.

Remember how we were all urged to emote over the plight of those poor people who had done nothing wrong except to try to destroy Iraq when they thought it was down?

Remember how we were urged to hate the wicked Saddam Hussein for retaliating against those poor innocent people?

Remember how we and the Americans established a "safe haven" for them near the Turkish border and swore to protect them for ever?

Remember how quickly we got out when the Americans decided to leave?

Strange, is it not, how little we hear about the Kurds these days? Alas, they have become an embarrassment.

For it seems that Kurdish guerillas have been using the "safe haven" as a base from which to resume their war against our brave Turkish allies. The Turks, who have 12 and a half millon Kurds within their borders and hate the guts of every one of them, have responded by launching air attacks and military incursions into the "safe haven" that we swore would be inviolate.

Of course the Turks can claim some justification. Those innocent, inoffensive Kurds have, after all, murdered quite a few Turkish officials lately and have ambushed and killed scores of Turkish troops. They have also kidnapped large numbers of people including ten German tourists.

In truth there has never been a unified Kurdish nation nor have there ever been any defined boundaries for what is loosely described as Kurdistan.

The Turks consider them pests as do the Iraqis and the Iranians. When we were carving up the Middle East 70 years ago, we thought they were pests too which is why we had the RAF drop poison gas on them.

It was only when they served the purpose of highlighting the absolute wickedness of Saddam Hussein that they became popular.

Now we can all forget them again.

The Great Media Crisis

I WAS VERY happy when John McCarthy was released from captivity by the Shi'ite loons in Lebanon. He had clearly borne his ordeal with commendable aplomb and his modest and unassuming manner did him great credit.

Nevertheless, he was not a hero, he was a victim. He and his fellow captives had been incarcerated for up to six years so why did we have to suffer the fevered media hysteria that accompanied his release and the ensuing breathless discussion about a "hostage crisis"? What crisis? Nothing had changed.

Yet TV programmes were cancelled to give the very latest update on his journey from Lebanon. The Channel 4 evening news bulletin was extended to an hour and twenty minutes, all but five minutes of which was devoted to Mr McCarthy. Special programmes were inserted into the schedule so that we might witness first hand the arrival of his plane in England - as though he was a conquering hero returned from some great exploit. His relatives were interviewed. His girl friend was interviewed. Emotions were unrestrained.

Before long I was heartily sick of hearing about John McCarthy and bitterly ashamed by the wimpish frenzy of joy and relief indulged in by my fellow countrymen - if Trevor McDonald and other strange media creature may be so described.

How such scenes must have gladdened the hearts of the dirty postcard salesmen who had been his captors. How they must have despised us for being so grateful for so little.

Of course it is not only the media creeps who have let this country down so badly. Our eccentric Overseas Development Minister, Mrs Lynda Chalker, has been to Iran, to squat on the floor, suitably bedecked in a yashmak, to fawn on the Iranians who are, after the Gulf War, definitely among the good guys. Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd has been snivelling round President Assad of Syria and just about every other Arab Chieftain who was available to be snivelled over. We do not, of course, deal with terrorists. No indeed, we only deal with the people who pull their strings.

Strangely enough, nobody I have met seems to have attached quite the same importance to John McCarthy's release as has the media. They are glad but not that glad.

The clue to the media hysteria lies in the fact that Mr McCarthy is himself a media man. His is therefore by definition a Very Important Person; indeed one of that elite group of VIP's who alone are of any importance of all.

For it is a fact that the media folk, especially the TV species, really do believe that the universe revolves around them and that their exploits are matters of riveting interest to the common people. Why whole evenings of prime time television are devoted to those endless TV award ceremonies where TV folk wallow in a veritable orgy of mutual admiration and back slapping.

Government ministers are summoned to appear on TV current affairs programmes and trip over their own feet in their haste to be obliging. When they appear they are invariably harassed and patronised by supercilious TV presenters and peremptorily dismissed when their time is up.

Not that they seem to mind since it is now common practice for Government Ministers to prefer announcing Government policy changes on the Jimmy Young radio show rather than to boring old Parliament.

TV, that evil eye in everyone's living room, is omnipresent and is rapidly becoming omnipotent. When there is no news it invents news. When there is no crisis it stage-manages one. It has usurped the prerogative of the courtesan and exercises power without responsibility.

It presumes to "educate" us all and shamelessly manipulates us all. TV no longer mirrors life - life mirrors television and is much the worse for it.

There is a great media crisis. The question is, can Western civilisation survive it?

Ripped off For Art's Sake

WHEN THIS tax-cutting Government of ours announced last March that it was cutting the betting tax on football pools, I suppose that some of those people who stake their little all each week on the world's worst bet thought for one glorious moment that they would actually be allowed to keep just a little more of their own money.

Not a bit of it. Despite the fact that our late, unlamented, and now almost forgotten Prime Minister, Margaret Wotsername, was fond of saying that people were the best judges of how to spend their own money, she contrived to increase the amount of our money confiscated by the Government while simultaneously posing as the Great Taxcutter.

Since her demise, very little has changed except that tax collection has been partially privatised and that we now have the pleasure of being ripped off by private companies rather than the Government.

For the reduction in Pools Duty was conditional on the tax savings being devoted to subsidising something called "The Arts".

Now there are differing views on whether or not "The Arts" should be subsidised. I seem to reall that Will Shakespeare managed quite well without a subsidy and that, indeed, he was more likely to be run out of town than given a back-hander.

Furthermore, I doubt if those football fans who believe that "We are the Champions" is the finest example of English prose would be willing to pay much to ensure that the plays of Harold Pinter did not vanish from the earth. I doubt also if those who find pleasure in singing a ragged chorus of "You'll never walk alone" would be keen on helping to pay the vastly inflated fee of some sweaty, posturing conductor at the Albert Hall, or for artfully contrived piles of bricks at the Tate Gallery, or for prancing poofters at the Royal Ballet.

In fact what the Government is doing is pretending that "The Arts' are being supported by private charity rather than by Government subsidy. Despite the loss of Margaret Wotsername, the art of deceit lives on.

Now I've never bet on the pools. I like a gamble but the knowledge that, after the deduction of Pools Duty and the promoter's "expenses", I can get only 30% or less of my own money back as "winnings" acts as a considerable deterrent. This is the equivalent of bookmakers offering odds of 4/5 on every runner in a six horse race. If that happened on a racecourse, I suspect that blood would flow in the Silver Ring yet week after week pools punters tamely submit to that kind of rip-off without protest.

Now, however, there are stirrings of discontent among these hapless punters after the announcement by Littlewoods Pools that they have increased their minimum stake by 25%; in part to help pay "their" charitable contribution to "The Arts". In response to these murmurings, a Littlewoods spokesman sniffily announced that if punters didn't want to subsidise "The Arts" they didn't have to enter. Just so, and I hope they don't.

For I am increasingly irritated by the growing practice among the private monopolies and near-monopolies in this wonderful free market economy of ours arrogantly presuming that they are national institutions endowed with the right to plunder their cusomers' pockets - the only choice the customer has being Hobson's.

In fact, far from being indispensable there is no organisation more surplus to requirements that a football pool. Football pools owe their very existence to the ludicrous pretence that filling in a pools coupon is a game of skill rather than a game of chance - in other words, good old British hypocrisy.

It is the Government's pretence of finding gambling abhorrent that prevents the great free British public from being permitted to purchase a ticket in the kind of national lottery that almost every other country has. Such a lottery would aid far more worthy charities than "The Arts", be simple to administer, and require no tiresome filling in of coupons.

If we had that then at least one great bubble of self-importance would be pricked for Littlewoods Pools would discover that, far from being a national institution, nobody needs them save the GPO, the Government, and Littlewoods.

Deplorable Decision

THE DECISION to prosecute six soldiers in Northern Ireland for conscientiously executing their duties is deplorable. It exceeds even the shabby, indecisive, and irresolute policies that both major parties have observed in government since 1968 when dealing with the IRA menace.

The stolen car in this case failed to stop at a check point and injured a military guard. If this is not reason to incapacitate the vehicle through disablement of the driver, what is? Technology does not exist to stop a speeding vehicle any other way without risk of failure or injury to the soldiers involved.

A similar absurd charge was laid against against a soldier in the Vietnam war by U.S. national masochists. The subsequent storm of publicity shocked the nation into the abandonment of action. Let us hope that there is still enough patriotism and sense of justice in this country to ensure the same thing doesn't happen here.

However, until the electorate put in power a truly national government, which will support the British people, their armed forces and eliminate terrorists acting against Britain, we will encounter similar attempts at national treachery.

France Faces the Same Problems

IN THE season of insulting remarks made by Edith Cresson about the sexual ability of British men, I would like to reveal a little of the real personality of this woman that we unfortunately have for Prime Minister.

Some weeks ago, during the daily violence in our country caused by the coloured population, a young policewoman was savagely murdered by an immigrant. Some days before this crime an immigrant who was a perpetual criminal offender died accidentally (medically-certified) in a Police station.

Mrs Cresson went immediately to the family of the immigrant to offer her sympathy, but there has been NO REACTION for family, friends and colleagues of MARIE CHRISTINE, the policewoman murdered.

For Mrs Cresson, a foreign delinquent has more worth than a French policewoman. In effect she is an indecent person like all Mitterrand's friends.

It is certain that these cosmopolitan governments (Mitterrand, Chirac, Giscard . . .) plunge France into a chaotic situation illustrated by the daily outbreaks of race war that take place in our country.

That accounts that more and more support from French people for the Front National. The fight for the White Race and Social Justice is the same in France as it is in Britain.

It would be insulting for ourselves if you assimilate us with this government of which we are the first victims.

Please don't forget this, when you see French tourists in your country.

Serves Them Right

I'M SURE that the recent scandal resulting in the wind up of BCCI will not cause any National Front members any loss of sleep.

Indeed the thought of Asian shopkeepers, who had their accounts with the bank, wringing their hands in misery because of their lost wealth will have many British people arriving at the conclusion - Its serves them right.

It was through BCCI that penniless Asian immigrants obtained business loans, were able to satisfy commercial landlords and managed to set up shop immediately on arrival in Britain.

British small businessmen on the other hand had to approach a British High Street Bank or other financial institution for support to start up a new business and didn't have a hope of help unless being able to provide substantial security for any loan.

Asian immigrants have been taking advantage of the corrupt banking practices of BCCI, massive grants from local councils and our ridiculous Race Relation Laws to compete against British small businessmen with a stacked deck of cards. With BCCI out the way things won't be so easy for them.

With limited resources forcing councils to cut back on frivolous grants and the recession hitting trade I'm certain it won't be long before the Asians, who after all are only economic migrants, will be looking for more prosperous grounds further afield.

Our Instant Response Message

I HAVE a suggestion that I would like to make through your paper, which I believe could be extremely helpful in boosting support for the National Front.

It involves the utilising of a particular sticker from the NF's selection. I refer to the one that reads "HANG IRA SCUM". This sticker will, of course, meet with the approval of the overwhelming majority of our people whenever it is displayed; but never more so, or with greater enthusiasm, than the very day after a big IRA outrage. Feelings and tempers at these times are running particularly high, and the appearance of these stickers, amidst all the ritual phoney and half-hearted words of condemnation from establishment politicians, would impress upon people that only a National Front Government would have the will to deal effectively with the IRA.

The problem of course is that we never know precisely when the IRA are going to strike. When it happens, many activists will not have any of these stickers at hand. By the time the emergency order is sent, received, cleared and dispatched, with postal delays etc, the climate of strong anti-IRA feeling will have cooled.

May I suggest therefore that every member and supporter should send NOW for at least 500 'HANG IRA SCUM' stickers, then just keep them in the cupboard until the sadly inevitable next IRA atrocity occurs. Then, with that as our cue, we can immediately blitz the whole country with our 'instant response message'. This will show everyone just who is really in the forefront of the fight against terrorism.

KEEP CLASSIC WINNERS IN TRAINING

by Darren Copeland

IT WAS INEVITABLE! Following his 7 lengths victory in the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Diamond Stakes, that Generous would be retired to stud at the end of the season and not be kept in training to tackle next year's Classic winners.

Generous, like Dancing Brave and Nashwan is owned by an Arab and trained by an Englishman who would have been delighted to handle him as a four-year-old, but Flat racing unlike National Hunt is controlled by big money and the safe decision is to retire Generous for fear of defeat and the reduced stud fees that would result.

Let us not fall for the 'nothing left to prove' excuse of those closely connected to the horse. By keeping Generous in training they would give him the chance to prove mental and physical durability rare among modern thoroughbreds, as well as to prove himself the head of a quality classic generation.

• ONCE IN A LIFETIME: After their moment of glory our classic winners are sent to stud.

• PAUL COLE: Trains Generous

What thrills and fascination there would be in Flat-racing if more champions stayed in training. If Nijinsky had stayed in training as a four-year-old in 1971 he would have come up against Mill Reef and Brigadier Gerard. At a time of recession in racing these are the sort of contests that would allow horse racing to compete at the top of the entertainment market.

Similarly had Dancing Brave continued his career into 1987 he would have come up against that fine Derby winner Reference Point.

Quite apart from their public relations and crowd pulling value, trials of strength between champions of different generations are desirable - notably for the stark comparisons they give the selective breeder.

Of course this is a double edged sword if you own a potential stallion, and this is where the risks lays. In 1971 Nijinsky would not have looked such a golden stud prospect if he had been beaten in the "King George" by Mill Reef, or if you force me to be unbiased, more likely the other way round.

In America, where classic winners more often than not stay in training, a breeder can almost always base his choice of stallion on a far wider range of racecourse comparisons.

Of the last 10 Kentucky Derby winners not one went to stud after running less than 14 times - and between them they ran 194 races. Over the same period our Derby winners totalled a miserly 77. Teenoso and Reference Point (10 runs) were the only English Derby winners to scrape into double figures. At least Generous joined them in that respect when he won the "King George".

But no sooner had the cheers died down than all the old accountants arguments resurfaced. "Owners have to capitalise to go on at this level" - "older horses seldom increase their value" - "stallions are cash in the bank".

All this goes to show that British Flat racing like so many other sports these days is less concerned about sporting excellence and more concerned with the pursuit of loot! Which means that the owners of Derby winners will continue to take the easy way out and retire their horses at the age of just three years.
